1. On 14 November 1953, the former German Army Clothing Depot I in Bernau quartered an estimated 2,000 men who wore red-bordered black epaulets most of them with artillery insignia. Between 3 and 14 November, NCOs and EM who wore suitcases were almost daily seen leaving the installation toward the railroad station. Numerous recruits were observed in the billeting area, but no training activity took place. The gun shed still housed 22 artillery pieces and at least 22 prime movers, while about 200 vehicles including trucks and tank trucks were parked in four garages. Soldiers were seen cleaning three artillery pieces of 100- to 120-mm caliber in the billeting area.
